Important Information About Distributions From Your 403(b) Plan

Federal tax law requires that most distributions from qualified retirement plans that are not directly rolled over to an IRA or other qualified plan be subject to federal income tax withholding at the rate of 20%.

The Custodian is required to provide you with a written notice explaining your 403(b) rollover options and how certain distributions may be taxed. You will find this notice in this booklet. Please read the tax notice carefully before removing money from your plan. If you have any questions about the tax consequences of the distribution you are taking from your plan, please consult your tax advisor before the distribution is made.

You may consider the distribution options under your 403(b) plan for a minimum waiting period of 30 days after receipt of this booklet. You have the right to use the entire waiting period to decide between your distribution options, or you may waive this waiting period by completing and returning the 403(b) Distribution Request form. Once you return the 403(b) Distribution Request form, your decision may not be changed.

The Questions and Answers section of this booklet provides brief answers to frequently asked questions about removing money from your 403(b) plan and possible rollover options.

American Century Investments® requires that any requests to remove money from your 403(b) plan be received in writing on American Century's 403(b) Distribution Request form.

If you have any questions, please call a Business Retirement Specialist at 1-800-345-3533.

Questions and Answers

Listed below are questions that are frequently asked about retirement plan distributions. If you have other questions, contact us at 1-800-345-3533.

When am I eligible to withdraw money from my 403(b) plan?

Your 403(b) plan is designed for your retirement. Generally, a distribution may be taken from your account only if one of the following qualifying events occurs:

- You have reached age 59½
- You no longer work for the employer
- You are permanently and totally disabled
- You have encountered certain financial hardships (if hardship withdrawals are permitted by your employer's plan)
- You have made excess contributions to the account
- In the event of your death
- Other qualifying events may apply in your 403(b) plan. Check with your employer to determine if you meet a qualifying event.

You must indicate on the 403(b) Distribution Request form which qualifying event occurred before American Century Investments can proceed with your request.

How do I qualify for a financial hardship withdrawal?

To qualify for a hardship withdrawal, your employer's plan must permit hardship withdrawals, you must have an immediate and heavy financial need, and the amount of the withdrawal must not exceed the amount of the need. Unless your employer's plan provides otherwise, the withdrawal must be used for:

- Medical expenses already incurred or necessary that are not covered by insurance; these expenses may be incurred by you, your spouse, your dependents or primary beneficiary
- Purchase of your principal residence

- Payment of tuition, related educational fees, and room and board for the next 12 months of post-secondary education for you, your spouse, your primary beneficiary, children or dependents
- Payments to prevent eviction from or foreclosure upon the mortgage of your principal residence
- Expenses for the repair of damage of your principal residence that would qualify for the casualty deduction under Internal Revenue Code section 165
- Burial or funeral expenses for your deceased parent, spouse, primary beneficiary, children or dependents

If you make a hardship withdrawal, you must suspend your salary reduction contributions to all retirement plans maintained by your employer for at least six months.

How much may I withdraw for a financial hardship?

The amount you may withdraw is the lesser of your total salary reduction contributions (not including earnings) or the amount necessary to meet the financial hardship. Any amounts received as a direct rollover from a Traditional IRA or another eligible retirement plan will not be available for hardship withdrawal.

Can an alternate payee make a withdrawal?

An alternate payee is generally an ex-spouse who has been assigned an interest in a 403(b) plan account under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO). The terms of the 403(b) plan and/or QDRO will determine when an alternate payee may take a distribution from the plan. Consult your employer to determine the alternate payee's distribution options. See the Special Tax Notice in this booklet for more information.

When must I begin withdrawals?

You must begin withdrawals the year in which you turn age 70½ or retire, whichever is later.

If I qualify for a 403(b) distribution, how will it be taxed?

If you receive a distribution and do not roll it over into an IRA or another eligible retirement plan, it will be subject to federal and state income tax unless it includes only after-tax or qualified Roth amounts. If you receive a distribution before you reach age 59½, you also may have to pay a penalty tax equal to 10% of the taxable portion of your distribution. See the Special Tax Notice in this booklet for more information.

When is a distribution subject to the 20% mandatory federal income tax withholding?

If a distribution is made payable directly to you, it is subject to the 20% mandatory federal income tax withholding, unless one of the following exceptions applies:

1. Your distribution is directly rolled over to an IRA or another eligible retirement plan
2. You are over age 70½ and are withdrawing only your required minimum distribution
3. You are withdrawing your benefit over your life expectancy, the life expectancy of you and your designated beneficiary, or a period of 10 years or more
4. You are withdrawing excess contributions
5. You are withdrawing due to a financial hardship.

If situation 2, 3, 4 or 5 above applies, distributions will be subject to federal withholding at the minimum rate of 10%, unless you elect no withholding on IRS Form W-4P or the 403(b) Distribution Request form. If federal income tax is withheld, then any mandatory state income tax also will be withheld.

What if I withdraw more than my required minimum distribution?

If you withdraw more than your required minimum distribution, the 20% federal income tax withholding rate, as well as any mandatory state income tax withholding, will apply to the amount in excess of your minimum distribution.

Example: You are age 70½ and your required minimum distribution is $1,000, but you withdraw $3,000. The minimum withholding rate of 10% applies to the first $1,000, and the 20% rate applies to the additional $2,000 withdrawn.

Can I roll over my 403(b) into a Traditional IRA or employer-sponsored plan?

Yes, unless your distribution is described in situation 2, 3, 4 or 5 on the previous page. Special rules may apply to the employer-sponsored plan. Check with the plan sponsor to determine if the plan accepts rollovers. See the Special Tax Notice in this booklet for more information.

If you are eligible for a distribution, you may request a rollover by completing a 403(b) Distribution Request form. If your assets are being rolled over to an IRA or plan at another institution, a letter of acceptance is also required.

Can I roll over my 403(b) into a Roth IRA?

Yes, unless your distribution is described in situation 2, 3, 4 or 5 on the previous page. However, certain rollover amounts may be treated as taxable income to you. See the Special Tax Notice in this booklet for more information.

If you are eligible for a distribution, you may request a rollover by completing a 403(b) Distribution Request form. If your assets are being rolled over to a Roth IRA at another institution, a letter of acceptance is also required.

Are my distributions reported to the IRS?

Yes. American Century Investments will report all distributions, including direct rollovers, to you and the IRS on Form 1099-R. A transfer from American Century Investments to your 403(b) with another custodian will not be reported.

How do I remove an excess contribution?

On the 403(b) Distribution Request form, check the "Excess contribution" box and indicate the exact dollar amount of the excess contribution. American Century Investments will calculate the gain or loss on the excess contribution, and any gains will be distributed with the excess amount. Taxes and penalties also may apply. Since special tax considerations may affect your situation, we suggest you contact a tax advisor before you remove excess contributions.

Does my spouse need to consent to the distribution?

If you are married and your 403(b) plan is subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), you and your spouse may need to waive the Qualified Joint and Survivor Annuity (QJSA) requirement. Please contact your employer for more information.

Is employer approval required before I can receive a distribution?

In most cases, distributions require employer or Third Party Administrator (TPA) approval and an authorized individual from your employer or TPA must sign the 403(b) Distribution Request form. Check with your employer or TPA to determine available distribution options in your 403(b) plan.

Special Tax Notice

For plan payments from qualified plans, 403(b) plans and governmental 457(b) plans

PART I: For Payments NOT from a Designated Roth Account

YOUR ROLLOVER OPTIONS

You are receiving this notice because all or a portion of a payment you are receiving from your employer's plan (the "Plan") is eligible to be rolled over to an IRA or an employer plan. This notice is intended to help you decide whether to do such a rollover.

This notice describes the rollover rules that apply to payments from the Plan that are not from a designated Roth account (a type of account with special tax rules in some employer plans). If you also receive a payment from a designated Roth account in the Plan, refer to Part II of this Special Tax Notice for a separate tax notice regarding that payment, and the Plan administrator or the payor will tell you the amount that is being paid from each account.

Rules that apply to most payments from a plan are described in the "General Information About Rollovers" section. Special rules that only apply in certain circumstances are described in the "Special Rules and Options" section.

You may be eligible to leave your retirement assets in the Plan. The Plan's investment options and fees may be different than those of other retirement plans, including IRAs and other employer plans. Check with your Plan administrator to determine the Plan options available to you, including the Plan's investment options and any associated fees.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT ROLLOVERS

How can a rollover affect my taxes?

You will be taxed on a payment from the Plan if you do not roll it over. If you are under age 59½ and do not do a rollover, you will also have to pay a 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies). However, if you do a rollover, you will not have to pay tax until you receive payments later and the 10% additional income tax will not apply if those payments are made after you are age 59½ (or if an exception applies).

Where may I roll over the payment?

You may roll over the payment to either an IRA (an individual retirement account or individual retirement annuity) or an employer plan (a tax-qualified plan, section 403(b) plan, or governmental section 457(b) plan) that will accept the rollover. The rules of the IRA or employer plan that holds the rollover will determine your investment options, fees, and rights to payment from the IRA or employer plan (for example, no spousal consent rules apply to IRAs and IRAs may not provide loans). Further, the amount rolled over will become subject to the tax rules that apply to the IRA or employer plan.

How do I do a rollover?

There are two ways to do a rollover. You can do either a direct rollover or a 60-day rollover.

If you do a direct rollover, the Plan will make the payment directly to your IRA or an employer plan. You should contact the IRA sponsor the administrator of the employer plan for information on how to do a direct rollover.

If you do not do a direct rollover, you may still do a rollover by making a deposit into an IRA or eligible employer plan that will accept it. You will have 60 days after you receive the payment to make the deposit. The 60-day timeframe applies to the non-loan portion of your payment. (See "If you have an outstanding loan that is being offset" under the Special Rules and Options section for information on rolling over the loan portion of your payment.) If you do not do a direct rollover, the Plan is required to withhold 20% of the payment for federal income taxes (up to the amount of cash and property received other than employer stock). This means that, to rollover the entire payment, you must use other funds to make up for the 20% withheld. If you do not roll over the entire amount of the payment, the portion not rolled over will be taxed and will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions if you are under 59½ (unless an exception applies).

How much may I roll over?

If you wish to do a rollover, you may roll over all or part of the amount eligible for rollover. Any payment from the Plan is eligible for rollover, except:

- Certain payments spread over a period of at least 10 years or over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary)
- Required minimum distributions after age 70½ (or after death)

- Hardship distributions
- Employee stock ownership plan (ESOP) dividends
- Corrective distributions of contributions that exceed tax law limitations
- Loans treated as deemed distributions (for example, loans in default due to missed payments before your employment ends)
- Cost of life insurance paid by the Plan
- Payments of certain automatic enrollment contributions requested to be withdrawn within 90 days of the first contribution
- Amounts treated as distributed because of a prohibited allocation of S corporation stock under an ESOP (also, there will generally be adverse tax consequences if you roll over a distribution of S corporation stock to an IRA).
- Cost of life insurance paid by the Plan
- Payments made directly to the government to satisfy a federal tax levy
- Payments made under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO)
- Payments up to the amount of your deductible medical expenses
- Certain payments made while you are on active duty if you were a member of a reserve component called to duty after September 11, 2001 for more than 179 days
- Payments of certain automatic enrollment contributions requested to be withdrawn within 90 days of the first contribution.

The Plan administrator or the payor can tell you what portion of a payment is eligible for rollover.

If I don't do a rollover, will I have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions?

If you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions for any payment from the Plan (including amounts withheld for income tax) that you do not roll over, unless one of the exceptions listed below applies. This tax is in addition to the regular income tax on the payment not rolled over.

The 10% additional income tax does not apply to the following payments from the Plan:

- Payments made after you separate from service if you will be at least age 55 in the year of the separation
- Payments that start after you separate from service if paid at least annually in equal or close to equal amounts over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary)
- Payments from a governmental defined benefit pension plan made after you separate from service if you are a public safety employee and you are at least age 50 in the year of the separation
- Payments made due to disability
- Payments after your death
- Payments of ESOP dividends
- Corrective distributions of contributions that exceed tax law limitations
- There is no exception for payments after separation from service that are made after age 55.
- The exception for QDROs does not apply (although a special rule applies under which, as part of a divorce or separation agreement, a tax-free transfer may be made directly to an IRA of a spouse or former spouse).
- The exception for payments made at least annually in equal or close to equal amounts over a specified period applies without regard to whether you have had a separation from service.
- There are additional exceptions for (1) payments for qualified higher education expenses, (2) payments up to $10,000 used in a qualified first-time home purchase, and (3) payments for health insurance premiums after you have received unemployment compensation for 12 consecutive weeks (or would have been eligible to receive unemployment compensation but for self-employed status).

If I do a rollover to an IRA, will the 10% additional income tax apply to early distributions from the IRA?

If you receive a payment from an IRA when you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions from the IRA, unless an exception applies. In general, the exceptions to the 10% additional income tax for early distributions from an IRA are the same as the exceptions listed above for early distributions from a plan. However, there are a few differences for payments from an IRA, including:

Will I owe State income taxes?

This notice does not describe any State or local income tax rules (including withholding rules).

SPECIAL RULES AND OPTIONS

If your payment includes after-tax contributions. After-tax contributions included in a payment are not taxed. If a payment is only part of your benefit, an allocable portion of your after-tax contributions is included in the payment, so you cannot take a payment of only after-tax contributions. However, if you have pre-1987 after-tax contributions maintained in a separate account, a special rule may apply to determine whether the after-tax contributions are included in a payment. In addition, special rules apply when you do a rollover, as described below.

You may roll over to an IRA a payment that includes after-tax contributions through either a direct rollover or a 60-day rollover. You must keep track of the aggregate amount of the after-tax contributions in all of your IRAs (in order to determine your taxable income for later payments from the IRAs). If you do a direct rollover of only a portion of the amount paid from the Plan and at the same time the rest is paid to you, the portion directly rolled over consists first of the amount that would be taxable if not rolled over. For example, assume you are receiving a distribution of $12,000, of which $2,000 is after-tax contributions. In this case, if you directly roll over $10,000 to an IRA that is not a Roth IRA, no amount is taxable because the $2,000 amount not directly rolled over is treated as being after-tax contributions. If you do a direct rollover of the entire amount paid from the Plan to two or more destinations at the same time, you can choose which destination receives the after-tax contributions.

If you do a 60-day rollover to an IRA of only a portion of a payment made to you, the after-tax contributions are treated as rolled over last. For example, assume you are receiving a distribution of $12,000, of which $2,000 is after-tax contributions, and no part of the distribution is directly rolled over. In this case, if you roll over $10,000 to an IRA that is not a Roth IRA in a 60-day rollover, no amount is taxable because the $2,000 amount not rolled over is treated as being after-tax contributions.

You may roll over to an employer plan all of a payment that includes after-tax contributions, but only through a direct rollover (and only if the receiving plan separately accounts for after-tax contributions and is not a governmental section 457(b) plan). You can do a 60-day rollover to an employer plan as part of a payment that includes after-tax contributions, but only up to the amount of the payment that would be taxable if not rolled over.

If you miss the 60-day rollover deadline.

Generally, the 60-day rollover deadline for the non-loan portion of your payment cannot be extended. However, the IRS has the limited authority to waive the deadline under certain extraordinary circumstances, such as when external events prevented you from completing the rollover by the 60-day rollover deadline. To apply for a waiver, you must file a private letter ruling request with the IRS. Private letter ruling requests require the payment of a nonrefundable user fee. For more information, see IRS Publication 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

If your payment includes employer stock that you do not roll over.

If you do not do a rollover, you can apply a special rule to payments of employer stock (or other employer securities) that are either attributable to after-tax contributions or paid in a lump sum after separation from service (or after age 59½, disability, or the participant's death). Under the special rule, the net unrealized appreciation on the stock will not be taxed when distributed from the Plan and will be taxed at capital gain rates when you sell the stock. Net unrealized appreciation is generally the increase in the value of employer stock after it was acquired by the Plan. If you do a rollover for a payment that includes employer stock (for example, by selling the stock and rolling over the proceeds within 60 days of the payment), the special rule relating to the distributed employer stock will not apply to any subsequent payments from the IRA or employer plan. The Plan administrator can tell you the amount of any net unrealized appreciation.

If you have an outstanding loan that is being offset.

If you have an outstanding loan from the Plan, your Plan benefit may be offset by the amount of the loan, typically when your employment ends. The loan offset amount is treated as a distribution to you at the time of the offset and will be taxed (including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions, unless an exception applies) unless you do a subsequent rollover of the loan offset amount to an IRA or employer plan prior to your individual tax return filing deadline (including extension) for the year in which the offset occurred.

If you were born on or before January 1, 1936.

If you were born on or before January 1, 1936 and receive a lump sum distribution that you do not roll over, special rules for calculating the amount of the tax on the payment might apply to you. For more information, see IRSPublication 575, Pension and Annuity Income.

If your payment is from a governmental section 457(b) plan.

If the Plan is a governmental section 457(b) plan, the same rules described elsewhere in this notice generally apply, allowing you to roll over the payment to an IRA or an employer plan that accepts rollovers. One difference is that, if you do not do a rollover, you will not have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions from the Plan even if you are under age 59½ (unless the payment is from a separate account holding rollover contributions that were made to the Plan from a tax-qualified plan, a section 403(b) plan, or an IRA). However, if you do a rollover to an IRA or to an employer plan that is not a governmental section 457(b) plan, a later distribution made before age 59½ will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies). Other differences are that you cannot do a rollover if the payment is due to an “unforeseeable emergency” and the special rules under “If your payment includes employer stock that you do not roll over” and “If you were born on or before January 1, 1936” do not apply.

If you are an eligible retired public safety officer and your pension payment is used to pay for health coverage or qualified long-term care insurance.

If the Plan is a governmental plan, you retired as a public safety officer, and your retirement was by reason of disability or was after normal retirement age, you can exclude from your taxable income plan payments paid directly as premiums to an accident or health plan (or a qualified long-term care insurance contract) that your employer maintains for you, your spouse, or your dependents, up to a maximum of $3,000 annually. For this purpose, a public safety officer is a law enforcement officer, firefighter, chaplain, or member of a rescue squad or ambulance crew.

If you roll over your payment to a Roth IRA.

If you roll over a payment from the Plan to a Roth IRA, a special rule applies under which the amount of the payment rolled over (reduced by any after-tax amounts) will be taxed. However, the 10% additional income tax on early distributions will not apply (unless you take the amount rolled over out of the Roth IRA within 5 years, counting from January 1 of the year of the rollover).

If you roll over the payment to a Roth IRA, later payments from the Roth IRA that are qualified distributions will not be taxed (including earnings after the rollover). A qualified distribution from a Roth IRA is a payment made after you are age 59½ (or after your death or disability, or as a qualified first-time homebuyer distribution of up to $10,000) and after you have had a Roth IRA for at least 5 years. In applying this 5-year rule, you count from January 1 of the year for which your first contribution was made to a Roth IRA. Payments from the Roth IRA that are not qualified distributions will be taxed to the extent of earnings after the rollover, including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies). You do not have to take required minimum distributions from a Roth IRA during your lifetime. For more information, see IRS Publication 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs), and IRS Publication 590-B, Distributions from Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

If you do a rollover to a designated Roth account in the Plan.

If your Plan allows for rollovers to a designated Roth account in the Plan and you are eligible to choose that option, the following provisions apply:

You cannot roll over a distribution to a designated Roth account in another employer's plan. However, you can roll the distribution over into a designated Roth account in the distributing Plan.

If you roll over a payment from the Plan to a designated Roth account in the Plan, the amount of the payment rolled over (reduced by any after-tax amounts directly rolled over) will be taxed. However, the 10% additional tax on early distributions will not apply (unless you take the amount rolled over out of the designated Roth account within the 5-year period that begins on January 1 of the year of the rollover).

If you roll over the payment to a designated Roth account in the Plan, later payments from the designated Roth account that are qualified distributions will not be taxed (including earnings after the rollover). A qualified distribution from a designated Roth account is a payment made both after you are age 59½ (or after your death or disability) and after you have had a designated Roth account in the Plan for at least 5 years. In applying this 5-year rule, you count from January 1 of the year your first contribution was made to the designated Roth account. However, if you made a direct rollover to a designated Roth account in the Plan from a designated Roth account in a plan of another employer, the 5-year period begins on January 1 of the year you made the first contribution to the designated Roth account in the Plan or, if earlier, to the designated Roth account in the plan of the other employer. Payments from the designated Roth account that are not qualified distributions will be taxed to the extent of earnings after the rollover, including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies).

If you are not a Plan participant.

Payments after death of the participant. If you receive a distribution after the participant's death that you do not roll over, the distribution will generally be taxed in the same manner described elsewhere in this notice. However, the 10% additional income tax on early distributions and the special rules for public safety officers do not apply, and the special rule described under the section “If you were born on or before January 1, 1936” applies only if the participant was born on or before January 1, 1936.

If you are a surviving spouse. If you receive a payment from the Plan as the surviving spouse of a deceased participant, you have the same rollover options that the participant would have had, as described elsewhere in this notice. In addition, if you choose to do a rollover to an IRA, you may treat the IRA as your own or as an inherited IRA.

An IRA you treat as your own is treated like any other IRA of yours, so that payments made to you before you are age 59½ will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies) and required minimum distributions from your IRA do not have to start until after you are age 70½.

If you treat the IRA as an inherited IRA, payments from the IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. However, if the participant had started taking required minimum distributions, you will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA. If the participant had not started taking required minimum distributions from the Plan, you will not have to start receiving required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA until the year the participant would have been age 70½.

If you are a surviving beneficiary other than a spouse. If you receive a payment from the Plan because of the participant's death and you are a designated beneficiary other than a surviving spouse, the only rollover option you have is to do a direct rollover to an inherited IRA. Payments from the inherited IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. You will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA.

Payments under a qualified domestic relations order. If you are the spouse or former spouse of the participant who receives a payment from the Plan under a QDRO, you generally have the same options the participant would have (for example, you may roll over the payment to your own IRA or an eligible employer plan that will accept it). Payments under the QDRO will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions.

If you are a nonresident alien.

If you are a nonresident alien and you do not do a direct rollover to a U.S. IRA or U.S. employer plan, instead of withholding 20%, the Plan is generally required to withhold 30% of the payment for federal income taxes. If the amount withheld exceeds the amount of tax you owe (as may happen if you do a 60-day rollover), you may request an income tax refund by filing Form 1040NR and attaching your Form 1042-S. See Form W-8BEN for claiming that you are entitled to a reduced rate of withholding under an income tax treaty. For more information, see also IRS Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, and IRS Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities.

Other special rules.

If a payment is one in a series of payments for less than 10 years, your choice whether to make a direct rollover will apply to all later payments in the series (unless you make a different choice for later payments).

If your payments for the year are less than $200 (not including payments from a designated Roth account in the Plan), the Plan is not required to allow you to do a direct rollover and is not required to withhold for federal income taxes. However, you may do a 60-day rollover.

Unless you elect otherwise, a mandatory cash out of more than $1,000 (not including payments from a designated Roth account in the Plan) may be directly rolled over to an IRA chosen by the Plan administrator or the payor. A mandatory cash out is a payment from a plan to a participant made before age 62 (or normal retirement age, if later) and without consent, where the participant's benefit does not exceed $5,000. This $5,000 threshold may exclude prior rollover amounts depending on the terms of your Plan. Your Plan administrator should provide you with a separate notice if this automatic rollover provision applies to you.

You may have special rollover rights if you recently served in the U.S. Armed Forces. For more information, see IRS Publication 3, Armed Forces' Tax Guide.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

You may wish to consult with the Plan administrator or payor, or a professional tax advisor, before taking a payment from the Plan. Also, you can find more detailed information on the federal tax treatment of payments from employer plans in: IRS Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income; IRS Publication 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs); IRS Publication 590-B, Distributions from Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs); and IRS Publication 571, Tax-Sheltered Annuity Plans (403(b) Plans). These publications are available from a local IRS office, on the web at www.irs.gov, or by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM.

PART II: For Payments FROM a Designated Roth Account

If the payment you are receiving is NOT from a designated Roth account in your employer's Plan, this Part II of the Special Tax Notice does not apply to you and you may disregard the following sections.

YOUR ROLLOVER OPTIONS

You are receiving this notice because all or a portion of a payment you are receiving from your employer's plan (the "Plan") is eligible to be rolled over to a Roth IRA or designated Roth account in an employer plan. This notice is intended to help you decide whether to do a rollover.

This notice describes the rollover rules that apply to payments from the Plan that are from a designated Roth account. If you also receive a payment from the Plan that is not from a designated Roth account, refer to Part I of this Special Tax Notice for a separate tax notice regarding that payment, and the Plan administrator or the payor will tell you the amount that is being paid from each account.

Rules that apply to most payments from a designated Roth account are described in the "General Information About Rollovers" section. Special rules that only apply in certain circumstances are described in the "Special Rules and Options" section.

You may be eligible to leave your retirement assets in the Plan. The Plan's investment options and fees may be different than those of other retirement plans, including Roth IRAs and other employer plans. Check with your Plan administrator to determine the Plan options available to you, including the Plan's investment options and any associated fees.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT ROLLOVERS

How can a rollover affect my taxes?

After-tax contributions included in a payment from a designated Roth account are not taxed, but earnings might be taxed. The tax treatment of earnings included in the payment depends on whether the payment is a qualified distribution. If a payment is only part of your designated Roth account, the payment will include an allocable portion of the earnings in your designated Roth account.

If the payment from the Plan is not a qualified distribution and you do not do a rollover to a Roth IRA or a designated Roth account in an employer plan, you will be taxed on the earnings in the payment. If you are under age 59½, a 10% additional income tax on early distributions will also apply to the earnings (unless an exception applies). However, if you do a rollover, you will not have to pay taxes currently on the earnings and you will not have to pay taxes later on payments that are qualified distributions.

If the payment from the Plan is a qualified distribution, you will not be taxed on any part of the payment even if you do not do a rollover. If you do a rollover, you will not be taxed on the amount you roll over and any earnings on the amount you roll over will not be taxed if paid later in a qualified distribution.

A qualified distribution from a designated Roth account in the Plan is a payment made after you are age 59½ (or after your death or disability) and after you have had a designated Roth account in the Plan for at least 5 years. In applying the 5-year rule, you count from January 1 of the year your first contribution was made to the designated Roth account. However, if you did a direct rollover to a designated Roth account in the Plan from a designated Roth account in another employer plan, your participation will count from January 1 of the year your first contribution was made to the designated Roth account in the Plan or, if earlier, to the designated Roth account in the other employer plan.

Where may I roll over the payment?

You may roll over the payment to either a Roth IRA (a Roth individual retirement account or Roth individual retirement annuity) or a designated Roth account in an employer plan (a tax-qualified plan or section 403(b) plan) that will accept the rollover. The rules of the Roth IRA or employer plan that holds the rollover will determine your investment options, fees, and rights to payment from the Roth IRA or employer plan (for example, no spousal consent rules apply to Roth IRAs and Roth IRAs may not provide loans). Further, the amount rolled over will become subject to the tax rules that apply to the Roth IRA or the designated Roth account in the employer plan. In general, these tax rules are similar to those described elsewhere in this notice, but differences include:

- If you do a rollover to a Roth IRA, all of your Roth IRAs will be considered for purposes of determining whether you have satisfied the 5-year rule (counting from January 1 of the year for which your first contribution was made to any of your Roth IRAs).
- If you do a rollover to a Roth IRA, you will not be required to take a distribution from the Roth IRA during your lifetime and you must keep track of the aggregate amount of the after-tax contributions in all of your Roth IRAs (in order to determine your taxable income for later Roth IRA payments that are not qualified distributions).
- Eligible rollover distributions from a Roth IRA can only be rolled over to another Roth IRA.

How do I do a rollover?

There are two ways to do a rollover. You can either do a direct rollover or a 60-day rollover.

If you do a direct rollover, the Plan will make the payment directly to your Roth IRA or designated Roth account in an employer plan. You should contact the Roth IRA sponsor or the administrator of the employer plan for information on how to do a direct rollover.

If you do not do a direct rollover, you may still do a rollover by making a deposit of the non-loan portion of the payment within 60 days into a Roth IRA, whether the payment is a qualified or nonqualified distribution. In addition, you can do a rollover by making a deposit of the non-loan portion of the payment within 60 days into a designated Roth account in an employer plan if the payment is a nonqualified distribution and the rollover does not exceed the amount of the earnings in the payment. (See "If you have an outstanding loan that is being offset" under the Special Rules and Options section for information on rolling over the loan portion of your payment.) You cannot do a 60-day rollover to an employer plan of any part of a qualified distribution. If you receive a distribution that is a nonqualified distribution and you do not roll over an amount at least equal to the earnings allocable to the distribution, you will be taxed on the amount of those earnings not rolled over, including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions if you are under age 59½ (unless an exception applies).

If you do a direct rollover of only a portion of the amount paid from the Plan and a portion is paid to you at the same time, the portion directly rolled over consists first of earnings.

If you do not do a direct rollover and the payment is not a qualified distribution, the Plan is required to withhold 20% of the earnings for federal income taxes (up to the amount of cash and property received other than employer stock). This means that, in order to roll over the entire payment in a 60-day rollover to a Roth IRA, you must use other funds to make up for the 20% withheld.

How much may I roll over?

If you wish to do a rollover, you may roll over all or part of the amount eligible for rollover. Any payment from the Plan is eligible for rollover, except:

- Certain payments spread over a period of at least 10 years or over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary)
- Required minimum distributions after age 70½ (or after death)
- Hardship distributions
- ESOP dividends
- Corrective distributions of contributions that exceed tax law limitations

- Loans treated as deemed distributions (for example, loans in default due to missed payments before your employment ends)
- Cost of life insurance paid by the Plan
- Payments of certain automatic enrollment contributions requested to be withdrawn within 90 days of the first contribution
- Amounts treated as distributed because of a prohibited allocation of S corporation stock under an ESOP (also, there will generally be adverse tax consequences if S corporation stock is held by an IRA).

The Plan administrator or the payor can tell you what portion of a payment is eligible for rollover.

If I don't do a rollover, will I have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions?

If a payment is not a qualified distribution and you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions with respect to the earnings allocated to the payment that you do not roll over (including amounts withheld for income tax), unless one of the exceptions listed below applies. This tax is in addition to the regular income tax on the earnings not rolled over.

The 10% additional income tax does not apply to the following payments from the Plan:

- Payments made after you separate from service if you will be at least age 55 in the year of the separation
- Payments that start after you separate from service if paid at least annually in equal or close to equal amounts over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary)
- Payments made due to disability
- Payments after your death
- Payments of ESOP dividends
- Corrective distributions of contributions that exceed tax law limitations
- Cost of life insurance paid by the Plan
- Payments made directly to the government to satisfy a federal tax levy
- Payments made under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO)
- Payments up to the amount of your deductible medical expenses

- Certain payments made while you are on active duty if you were a member of a reserve component called to duty after September 11, 2001 for more than 179 days
- Payments of certain automatic enrollment contributions requested to be withdrawn within 90 days of the first contribution.

If I do a rollover to a Roth IRA, will the 10% additional income tax apply to early distributions from the IRA?

If you receive a payment from a Roth IRA when you are under age 59½, you will have to pay the 10% additional income tax on early distributions on the earnings paid from the Roth IRA, unless an exception applies, or the payment is a qualified distribution. In general, the exceptions to the 10% additional income tax for early distributions from a Roth IRA listed above are the same as the exceptions for early distributions from a plan. However, there are a few differences for payments from a Roth IRA, including:

- There is no special exception for payments after separation from service.
- The exception for QDROs does not apply (although a special rule applies under which, as part of a divorce or separation agreement, a tax-free transfer may be made directly to a Roth IRA of a spouse or former spouse).
- The exception for payments made at least annually in equal or close to equal amounts over a specified period applies without regard to whether you have had a separation from service.
- There are additional exceptions for (1) payments for qualified higher education expenses, (2) payments up to $10,000 used in a qualified first-time home purchase, and (3) payments for health insurance premiums after you have received unemployment compensation for 12 consecutive weeks (or would have been eligible to receive unemployment compensation but for self-employed status).

Will I owe State income taxes?

This notice does not describe any State or local income tax rules (including withholding rules).

SPECIAL RULES AND OPTIONS

If you miss the 60-day rollover deadline.

Generally, the 60-day rollover deadline for the non-loan portion of your payment cannot be extended. However, the IRS has the limited authority to waive the deadline under certain extraordinary circumstances, such as when external events prevented you from completing the rollover by the 60-day rollover deadline. To apply for a waiver, you must file a private letter ruling request with the IRS.

Private letter ruling requests require the payment of a nonrefundable user fee. For more information, see IRS Publication 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

If your payment includes employer stock that you do not roll over.

If you receive a payment that is not a qualified distribution and you do not roll it over, you can apply a special rule to payments of employer stock (or other employer securities) that are paid in a lump sum after separation from service (or after age 59½, disability, or the participant's death). Under the special rule, the net unrealized appreciation on the stock included in the earnings in the payment will not be taxed when distributed to you from the Plan and will be taxed at capital gain rates when you sell the stock. If you do a rollover to a Roth IRA for a nonqualified distribution that includes employer stock (for example, by selling the stock and rolling over the proceeds within 60 days of the distribution), you will not have any taxable income and the special rule relating to the distributed employer stock will not apply to any subsequent payments from the Roth IRA or employer plan. Net unrealized appreciation is generally the increase in the value of the employer stock after it was acquired by the Plan. The Plan administrator can tell you the amount of any net unrealized appreciation.

If you receive a payment that is a qualified distribution that includes employer stock and you do not roll it over, your basis in the stock (used to determine gain or loss when you later sell the stock) will equal the fair market value of the stock at the time of the payment from the Plan.

If you have an outstanding loan that is being offset.

If you have an outstanding loan from the Plan, your Plan benefit may be offset by the amount of the loan, typically when your employment ends. The loan offset amount is treated as a distribution to you at the time of the offset and, if the distribution is a nonqualified distribution, the earnings in the loan offset will be taxed (including the 10% additional income tax on early distributions, unless an exception applies) unless you do a subsequent rollover in the amount of the earnings in the loan offset to a Roth IRA or designated Roth account in an employer plan prior to your individual tax filing deadline (including extension) for the year in which the offset occurred.

If you receive a nonqualified distribution and you were born on or before January 1, 1936.

If you were born on or before January 1, 1936 and receive a lump sum distribution that is not a qualified distribution and that you do not roll over, special rules for calculating the amount of the tax on the earnings in the payment might apply to you. For more information, see IRS Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income.

If you receive a nonqualified distribution, are an eligible retired public safety officer, and your pension payment is used to pay for health coverage or qualified long-term care insurance.

If the Plan is a governmental plan, you retired as a public safety officer, and your retirement was by reason of disability or was after normal retirement age, you can exclude from your taxable income nonqualified distributions paid directly as premiums to an accident or health plan (or a qualified long-term care insurance contract) that your employer maintains for you, your spouse, or your dependents, up to a maximum of $3,000 annually. For this purpose, a public safety officer is a law enforcement officer, firefighter, chaplain, or member of a rescue squad or ambulance crew.

If you are not a Plan participant.

Payments after death of the participant. If you receive a distribution after the participant's death that you do not roll over, the distribution will generally be taxed in the same manner described elsewhere in this notice. However, whether the payment is a qualified distribution generally depends on when the participant first contributed to the designated Roth account in the Plan. Also, the 10% additional income tax on early distributions and the special rules for public safety officers do not apply, and the special rule described under the section "If you receive a nonqualified distribution and you were born on or before January 1, 1936" applies only if the participant was born on or before January 1, 1936.

If you are a surviving spouse. If you receive a payment from the Plan as the surviving spouse of a deceased participant, you have the same rollover options that the participant would have had, as described elsewhere in this notice. In addition, if you choose to do a rollover to a Roth IRA, you may treat the Roth IRA as your own or as an inherited Roth IRA.

A Roth IRA you treat as your own is treated like any other Roth IRA of yours, so that you will not have to receive any required minimum distributions during your lifetime and earnings paid to you in a nonqualified distribution before you are age 59½ will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies).

If you treat the Roth IRA as an inherited Roth IRA, payments from the Roth IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. An inherited Roth IRA is subject to required minimum distributions. If the participant had started taking required minimum distributions from the Plan, you will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited Roth IRA. If the participant had not started taking required minimum distributions, you will not have to start receiving required minimum distributions from the inherited Roth IRA until the year the participant would have been age 70½.

If you are a surviving beneficiary other than a spouse. If you receive a payment from the Plan because of the participant's death and you are a designated beneficiary other than a surviving spouse, the only rollover option you have is to do a direct rollover to an inherited Roth IRA. Payments from the inherited Roth IRA, even if made in a nonqualified distribution, will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. You will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited Roth IRA.

Payments under a qualified domestic relations order. If you are the spouse or a former spouse of the participant who receives a payment from the Plan under a QDRO, you generally have the same options the participant would have (for example, you may roll over the payment as described in this notice).

If you are a nonresident alien.

If you are a nonresident alien and you do not do a direct rollover to a U.S. IRA or U.S. employer plan, instead of withholding 20%, the Plan is generally required to withhold 30% of the payment for federal income taxes. If the amount withheld exceeds the amount of tax you owe (as may happen if you do a 60-day rollover), you may request an income tax refund by filing Form 1040NR and attaching your Form 1042-S. See Form W-8BEN for claiming that you are entitled to a reduced rate of withholding under an income tax treaty. For more information, see also IRS Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, and IRS Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities.

Other special rules.

If a payment is one in a series of payments for less than 10 years, your choice whether to make a direct rollover will apply to all later payments in the series (unless you make a different choice for later payments).

If your payments for the year (only including payments from the designated Roth account in the Plan) are less than $200, the Plan is not required to allow you to do a direct rollover and is not required to withhold for federal income taxes. However, you can do a 60-day rollover.

Unless you elect otherwise, a mandatory cash out from the designated Roth account in the Plan of more than $1,000 may be directly rolled over to a Roth IRA chosen by the Plan administrator or the payor. A mandatory cash out is a payment from a plan to a participant made before age 62 (or normal retirement age, if later) and without consent, where the participant's benefit does not exceed $5,000. This $5,000 threshold may exclude prior rollover amounts depending on the terms of your Plan. Your Plan administrator should provide you with a separate notice if this automatic rollover provision applies to you.

You may have special rollover rights if you recently served in the U.S. Armed Forces. For more information, see IRS Publication 3, Armed Forces' Tax Guide.

4 Complete Withholding Election

If you are a non-resident alien, call us before completing this section.

Notice of Withholding: The amounts you receive from the plan are subject to federal income tax withholding. See the Special Tax Notice for complete information.

- If your distribution is eligible for rollover to another retirement plan and you do not elect a direct rollover, the distribution is subject to mandatory federal income tax withholding at the rate of 20%. State tax withholding also may apply.
 - If your distribution is not eligible for rollover, you may elect to have withholding apply to the distribution by checking the box below and indicating the rate of withholding. If you do NOT want us to withhold federal income tax from your payments, do NOT check the box.
- I elect to have federal income tax withheld at the rate of _____%. (Percentage must be between 10-100%. If no percentage is indicated, or if you indicated a percentage of 1-9%, withholding will be made at the minimum rate of 10%.)

Note: State tax will be withheld according to state regulations if, at the time of your distribution, your tax residency is within one of the mandatory withholding states.

Remember, even if you elect not to have income tax withheld, you are liable for paying income tax on the taxable portion of your withdrawal. If you elect not to have income tax withheld, or you don't have enough income tax withheld, you may be responsible for payment of estimated tax. You may incur penalties under the estimated tax rules if your withholding and estimated tax payments are not sufficient.

For automatic periodic distributions only, you have the right to revoke your withholding election at any time, and any election you make will remain in effect until revoked by filing a new election.

5 Provide Direction for Payment

Select a method of payment. If you select more than one method, indicate the dollar amount or percentage to be paid by each method.

Please note that required minimum distributions, hardship withdrawals and installment payments over a period of 10 years or more may be paid only by direct payment (option C) or transfer to a non-retirement account (option D).

A. Direct Rollover to Eligible Retirement Account at American Century Investments

Roll over my distribution directly into my American Century IRA or other retirement plan at American Century Investments. I have attached a letter of acceptance from the plan administrator. [Attach the appropriate American Century Investments IRA Application to open a new American Century IRA and/or Roth IRA. The amount of your investment must meet the stated minimum for the fund(s) you select.]

Tell us what type of account the money is going to (check one)¹:

- Rollover/Traditional IRA² Roth IRA Employer-sponsored retirement plan

Fund name	Account number	Percentage

¹ Check only one option unless you are rolling over both pre-tax and Roth assets. Roth assets must be rolled over to either a Roth IRA or a 401(k), 403(b) or 457(b) that accepts Roth contributions.

² Refer to Combining Contributions below.

Combining Contributions

(If you are a non-spouse beneficiary completing this form, you may skip this section.)

Proceeds from certain retirement plans that are rolled over to an IRA are normally deposited in a separate account designated as a Rollover IRA. Maintaining a separate account for rollover funds generally makes it easier to roll over these funds to another qualified retirement plan in the future. If you do not wish to preserve this option, please check the box below.

- I have read the explanation above, and I understand the consequences of combining contributions. You may use this as your authority to combine my rollover with my Traditional IRA.

6 Complete for Financial Hardship Distributions

Skip this section unless you are requesting a financial hardship distribution.

State the reason(s) for your request for a financial hardship distribution. You must provide all the information requested below.

This hardship distribution is necessary to satisfy an immediate and heavy financial need due to the following (please check all that apply):

- To prevent eviction from my principal residence or a foreclosure on the mortgage of my principal residence
- The payment of tuition, related educational fees or room and board for the next 12 months of post-secondary education for myself, my spouse, my primary beneficiary, my children under the age of 19 (or age 24 if a full-time student) or my dependents
- The purchase (excluding mortgage payments) of my principal residence
- Significant expenses incurred by me, my spouse, my primary beneficiary or my dependents for medical care or in order to obtain such medical care (not covered by insurance or other coverage)
- Expenses for the repair of damage of my principal residence that would qualify for the casualty deduction under Internal Revenue Code section 165
- Burial or funeral expenses for my deceased parent, spouse, primary beneficiary, child under the age of 19 (or age 24 if a full-time student) or dependent

I hereby certify that the distribution amount I have requested does not exceed the amount required to meet my immediate and heavy financial need, and that this cannot be satisfied from other reasonably available resources including, but not limited to, the following:

- By other distributions available from this plan or any other plan in which I participate
- By borrowing from commercial sources on reasonable commercial terms
- Through reimbursement or compensation by insurance or otherwise
- By reasonable liquidation of my assets (including assets of my spouse and minor children that are reasonably available to me)
- By cessation of tax-deferred contributions under the plan

I understand that:

- Only salary deferrals are eligible for financial hardship distribution. Earnings on deferrals made after December 31, 1988, are not available for distribution.
- Financial hardship distributions are not eligible for rollover.
- I am required to suspend my salary reduction contributions to all 403(b) or other tax-deferred programs maintained by my employer for at least six months after receipt of the hardship distribution. I am responsible for revoking my salary reduction agreement to suspend contributions.
- A 10% early distribution penalty may be assessed by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) if I am under age 59½.
- I am responsible for satisfying any other IRS requirements relative to this hardship distribution; substantial penalties may be imposed if the financial hardship is disallowed by the IRS.

7 Sign Your Name and Date on Next Page (Participant or Beneficiary)

I certify that I am aware of the Plan's provisions and requirements relating to distributions, and I understand the tax consequences of this distribution.

I understand that if I have requested that my pre-tax funds be rolled over to a Roth IRA, the taxable amount rolled over is taxable income.

I request a distribution in the manner indicated on this form. I also acknowledge that I have received, read and understood the Special Tax Notice. If I have elected a direct rollover, I certify, by my signature below, that the Custodian/Trustee named in step 5 will accept a direct rollover of my distribution. I acknowledge that I made an election to receive a benefit payment within 180 days of receipt of the Special Tax Notice. I waive the 30-day waiting period and request to have the distribution made now.

A signature guarantee is only required if you redeem more than $100,000 and your address on file has changed within 7 days of the redemption.
